

STATEMENT FROM CENTURY PARK

Resident health and safety are a top priority for Century Park Associates.

We are utilizing infection control procedures set forth by CMS, CDC and local health departments, and going over our own infection control policies and procedures. In addition, we are complying with the new state mandates, CDC and CMS guidelines to facilitate best practices in each of our communities.

These guidelines do limit visitors significantly to help protect our residents from possible exposure to this virus, and in some instances may restrict visitors almost entirely. As such, we encourage families to establish alternate ways of communicating with our residents, such as by telephone, texting, video conferencing or other means. We understand family members are an integral part of our residents' lives and encourage any family members with concerns or questions about these limitations to call the community for more information.

Our associates are being diligent on practicing proper hand hygiene, which is a recurring education they normally receive, beginning with their orientation at our community. Every associate is now screened when they arrive for work, including checking temperature, to ensure no additional sickness is brought into our building. If they have a fever over 100.4, we send them home and ask they visit their personal physician. This is in accordance with CMS and CDC guidelines.

Our community is still fully operational, and we will continue to take all appropriate measures to ensure the safety and well-being of our residents, our associates and the community.
